

New E-Learning Programme for CFP^{CM} Candidates

The IFP is committed to providing high quality assistance to candidates preparing for the CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER^{CM} Licence (CFP) - the globally recognised symbol of excellence for Financial Planners.

From 8 June, IFP has launched a brand new e-learning programme, an interactive and engaging online study tool which replaces the paper-based CFP manual traditionally used to help candidates prepare for the assessment.

The platform includes information about the assessment itself, the CFP standards, worked examples and two example case studies and financial plans.

What are the benefits of CFP E-Learning?

- It is a high quality, interactive and engaging learning tool
- Online learning centre offers different learning styles to reflect the way that works best for each candidate
- Easy access to key revision information to help candidates prepare for CFP assessment
- Learning can be broken down into manageable chunks
- Sample questions help candidates to assess ongoing progress
- It makes recording ongoing learning more organised
- Provides hints, tips and guidance on the standards required to pass
- Resource Centre- works like a library providing access to useful information, examples, sample financial plans and assessment standards

Accessing the E-Learning Platform

The e-learning website is at www.ifplearning.org.uk. When accessing the site for the first time, people will be asked to register. If they have not used the site before, they will be asked for basic details – name etc. They will then be directed to IFP to obtain an access key.

Costs

The cost of using the e-learning platform for a 12 month period is £100.

(Note: Free access to the e-learning platform is included in the cost of a CFP Preparation Day and the new CFP Focused Assessment Programme)

Nick Cann, CEO of IFP comments. “I am delighted that we are able to improve further the quality of our support for those aspiring to be CFP professionals. There has long been a call for more electronic support and flexibility for candidates and this has now been delivered by IFP with this E-Learning programme alongside our recently announced Focused Assessment Programme”

Contact CFP@financialplanning.org.uk for further details.

